

IAH NSW GROUNDWATER SYMPOSIUM – UNCERTAINTY IN HYDROGEOLOGY – 5th-6th SEPTEMBER 2011

The NSW Branch of the International Association of Hydrogeologists invites you and your organisation to be part of the 2nd NSW Groundwater Symposium exploring the challenge of uncertainty in hydrogeology. This will be held at Dockside, (Sydney CBD) on 5-6 September 2011.

A full program is now available online and will be updated regularly. Click here to download the program.

The recent focus on the precious groundwater resources of NSW and the uncertainty surrounding resource sustainability has prompted this year's theme.

This conference will be a space for new ideas and lively debate on the uncertainty within the following specific themes:

- Coal Seam Gas
- Mining
- Groundwater Dependent Ecosystems
- Groundwater –Surface Water interaction
- Coastal systems
- Resource development
- Urban environments
- Climate change and population growth
- Managed Aquifer Recharge
- NSW Government Legislation and policies (New Macro Water Sharing Plans)
- Groundwater Education for Professionals ,Schools and the Public

Who are the keynote speakers?

We are delighted to confirm the following as keynote speakers:-

- Hon Malcolm Turnbull, MP
- David Harriss, NSW Commissioner of Water
- Sue Hamilton, NSW Office of Water (winner of IAH Best Presentation at Groundwater 2010)
- Ray Evans, Principal Hydrogeologist, SKM
- Hugh Middlemiss, Senior Principal Modeller, RPS Aquaterra

Who will attend?

Anyone who has an interest in groundwater science and engineering, management and policy makers in government agencies, regional hydrogeologists in NSW, Coal Seam Gas industry representatives, mining industry representatives (coal and metaliferous), consulting hydrogeologists, environmental assessors, exploration geologists, landholders, academics and other interested parties.
